Too many presentations fail to inspire their audiences because they focus on information, not inspiration.

Delivered in partnership with The Humphrey Group Inc., this powerful program explores a new communications approach: one that will enable you to present your ideas so that others are inspired to act upon them. You will learn how to deliver presentations with a clear message, persuasive structure and compelling language. You will learn to create visuals that present ideas, rather than information. And you’ll build skills in projecting a confident yet natural presence in every interaction.

To ingrain your learning experience, the program includes hands-on presentation workshops in formal, informal and off-the-cuff situations.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Presenting as a Leader™ will show you how to:
• View all presentations as leadership opportunities
• Move from an informational to an inspirational style

• Use your body language, pace, eye contact, and expression to engage your audience
